GENERAL SAMUEL C. ARMSTRONG Who returns after some twenty years absence, to visit the home of his birth, has earned a well deserved name for his educational work among the Freedmen in Virginia. Once back here, the powers that be ought not to let him go. His enthusiasm and vigor if devoted to the benefit of Hawaii nei would be better than a renewal of the reciprocity treaty. Mr. G. RHODES has a plain way of expressing his convictions which cannot fail to impress one with his sincerity and fearlessness. Whether or not be "hurrahed for Paulet" or sang "Rule Britannia," we do not know; but we respect his denouncement of appropriating public money in "mere folly and extravagance," or wasting it on "such useless trump-Now, We do hereby, in pursuance of the said Act, and by visine of the power and authority thereby given to presses the general disapproval of "endeavoring to secure the votes of members by break-ing the law." Mr. Gibson's appeal to the Hawaiian members is amusing, in which he is reported to have begged of them "to be loyal to their Sovereign, and in their support of the honor of the King, to observe the piety and loyalty of the good sons of Noah, who closed their eyes and provided means to hide a weakness of their father, rather than drag it before the public observation."

Wn do not know whether Benjamin Franklin thought it was best to be honest because it was the best policy to be so, or merely wished to console the honest for any suffering they might have "for a time," with the thought that in the long run they would lose nothing by honesty. At the risk however of being accused of Poor Richard morality, we desire to call attention to the supreme concern which all owners of property have in the observance and enforcement of the laws intended to stay drunkenness and licentiousness. Every man of sense in this kingdom ought to see that his own interests, if he has or cares to have any, are best promoted by inculcating respect for such laws. A QUESTION has recently had some discussion in a few circles which might be regarded as trenching upon personal matters were it not for its influence on public interests. We refer to no less a matter than to judicial robes. There are those, it seems, who believe the lease for 5 years of those tracts or parcels of land situated in the District of Kau, Island of Hawaii, new leased by Chung Pen and S. We are not prepared to say that it was a mistake to doff the sword and gold lace of Kame-hameha Cabinets; we are not among those who flippantly class all these things with "tom-foolery," But without committing our-selves yet on the subject of gold lace, we commend to their honors, the judges, that the era of the judicial gown be inaugurated.

"THREE disappointed politicians run the neighboring sheet. They show their soreness in every issue. When a man has a sore head he should not show it."—P. C. A.

It is perhaps unfortunate that there are no It is perhaps unfortunate that there are no political parties in this country. Except for M. Davidson, who recently left here, after two or the old feeling entertained by many natives for Queen Emma, and the lines drawn for and against Ministers, there are no politics here, in the usual meaning of the word. The consequence is that there are no politicians in the country, but merely a striving in favor of or against this or that official, and to carry or defeat this or that measure, but with no party following.

We are happy to know, however, that this country is not so low as to be without a strong and healthy public sentiment on all questions of public import. That sentiment is growing stronger, more outspoken and more sharply defined every day. This journal has but expressed in temperate and measured language the views on public matters which in private circles are asserted with a degree of force which cannot be mistaken.

If our esteemed contemporary in making the statement above quoted intends a polite allusion to this journal, and not to The Friend. or either of the Hawaiian journals, still we are uncertain whether persons expectant but thus far disappointed of obtaining office are in-tended, or "defunct" officers. If the latter, although we have the pleasure of knowing a good many of them, we have never yet seen one who was disappointed by the loss of his office. If it is "a disappointed politician who runs the neighboring sheet" and himself besides, we have nothing to say against him in that capacity, and shall read with interest anything that he may write or inspire.

WE would like to say a few words to our Hawaiian members. We have written much upon the measures which are being placed before the House, but we have been shut out from direct communication with many of the gentlemen upon whose desks a copy of our paper lies every Wednesday morning.

We are pleased to see that so liberal an appropriation has been made for immigration and carred May 25th and 25th. A marked degree of that it was made by so large a majority; this shows us that the native members are alive to there have been no serious cases of sickness although the school was interrupted by the measles at the beginning of the fall term. There have been two deaths but in each instance they occurred during vacation when the boys were at their homes. The year shows a decided improvement in discipline and in studious habits. The number in attendance at the close of the school was forty-six, bring one less than the previous year. Only those scholars are retained who give promise of steady advancement in the studies of the school, and who maintain a good moral character.

The studies pursued during the year have been Grammar, General History, and Physicology; Reading, Arithmetic, Spelling, Geography and Penmanship; besides apocial attention given to English Exercises including object-lessons, conversations, the formation of oral and written sentences, the memorizing of a vocabulary of over two-hundred English words with Hawaiian equivalents, and essay-writing. Next year it is hoped that the grade will include in addition to the above studies, Algebra, Botany, Natural Philosophy, and Moral Science.

The school is managed on the manual labor system and the work of the boys is popularly supposed to be an equivalent for the cost of their board. Such labor however is only part-payment, and the deficit between the actual cost of foodsupplies and the income from labor is larger now than formerly. There are no tuition charges and the expense to the scholars is mainly in the matter of books and farming implements.

During the year a Reading Room has been established and illustrated papers introduced, and the good effects have been quite sensible. It is proposed to enlarge this feature and it is hoped that a Library may be gathered gradually consisting of short historical, biographical, and religious marratives. The co-operation of interested parties will be most cordially welcomed in sustaining the Reading Room by contributions of papers and magazines.

The annual examination exercises of the pupils of Punahou College commenced on Thursday last, and was adjourned until Monday and terminated and was adjourned until Monday and terminated yestorday. The examining committee comprised Messrs. D. D. Baldwin, H. W. Mist, S. B. Dole and Rev. W. Frear. The exercises were well attended by the many friends of this popular institution of learning, and by a large number of parents of the pupils. We are pleased to note that the examinations were eminently successful and elicited the warm approval of the large number present. The college under the management of President Jones has lost none of its former prestige, and bids fair to become still more useful in the future as an institution where our youth can receive a as an institution where our youth can receive a course of training which will fit them for the various duties of life. Want of space forbids a more extended notice in this issue.

An article on the Hawaiian Islands appears in three years of a very successful law practice in Honolulu. The article is light and airy, and decidedly readable. Mr. Davidson's figures concerning the Hawaiian race, which he thinks "is rapidly passing away," are open to criticism. "Fifty years ago," he says, "they numbered 450,000; today not in excess of 40,000." The 'most fruitful cause" he finds for the decrease, "has been forcing upon the people a government and system of laws for which they were not prepared by any previous education, making habits and customs long indulged in and regarded as harmless and innocent, misdemeanors and crimes, punishable by fine and imprisonment." We do not think that many can be found to believe that the race would have been perpetuated by a continuance or revival Honolulu. The article is light and airy, and deci-

the war he sold out his northern home, bought an estate in North Carolina and established himself there with his family, in the notion that northerners would find a pleasant welcome, and fair treatment at the hands of their recent antagonists. He undertook to carry out there his northern ideas of free labor and open discussion of public matters; but although he was regarded as a gentleman, and the son of one of his principal political foes became enamored of his daughter, the fool, after many bitter experiences was glad to shake the dust from his feet and get away with a whole skin, after several narrow escapes from assassination. He returned south to settle up his estate, and die there. The faithful negroes, and it is pleasant to read, the hot-headed but warmhearted southernors who recognised his manliness and worth, attended him in his last hours, and mourned over his loss.

The book is undoubtedly correct in its description of Southern ways and feelings after the war;

tion of Southern ways and feelings after the war; and there is no doubt that the fool made a mis-take in thinking that an outspoken northern gen-tleman could find a pleasant home at the South in the bitterness of feeling which was then so fresh. Time, another generation and prosperity are re-quired in order to bring about a much better state of things.

Mr. Cleghorn for prohibiting their sale to all nationalities with whom we had no

NOTES.

The Advertiser recommends persons to cut out our articles and paste them in their hat for ready reference in case of want of adjectives to express contempt for dishonesty, licentiousness and the like. We can hardly expect so much consideration from our readers; and we sincerely regret that our valued neighbor will not give us more occasion to recommend a like study of its columns for lessons of courtesy.

We are glad to see that The Californian thinks "that the law should take its course" on young Kalloch for killing DeYonng. Well would it be for California had the law taken its course in many other matters as well as assassinations. It many do very well to live in a country in which one is allowed to "do as he likes," as long as he, and the majority with him, chooses to do things which are apparently harmless. But when the majority begin to manifest a choice for evil doings, one's ideas of liberty undergo reform.

To avoid imposition, purchasers of Waitham Watches will observe that every genume watch, whether gold or aliver, boars our trade mark on both case and movement. Gold cases are stamped "A. W. Co." and gustratee certificates accompany them. Bilver cases are stamped "Am. Watch Co. Waitham, Mass., Spriling silver," and are accompanied by guarantee certificates, signed R. E. Robbins, Treasurer. The name "Waitham" is plainly engraved upon all movements, irrespective of either distinguishing marks.

This caution is rendered necessary by reason of the fact that our cases are frequently separated from our movements and put into worthless movements of other makers, and gife serse, thus affecting linjuriously the performance of the watches and vitiating our guarantee, which is intended to cover only our complete watches wholly made by us. It is necessary, also, because it is so notorious as to be a public scandal, that there is great flaud in the metal quality of both gold and silver cases as now generally sold. We have demonstrated by frequent assays that many gold and silver cases offered in the market are debased from from 10 to 20 per cent. from the quality they assume to be. This is a fraed upon the purchaser, and accounts for the low price at which side cased watches have been sold.

We take this occasion to amounce that we have re-deely reacance. Aft. Davison's inguree Concerning the Hawnian race, which he thinks "is rapidly passing away," are open to criticism. "Fifty years ago," he says, "they immered 450,000." The "most fruitful catase" he finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the finds for the decrease, "inso been fore in the find of the finds that the race would have been perpetuated by a continuance or revival of any of these "habits and customs long indulged in "which are prohibited in our Penal Code. Certainly that portion of the Hawnian community which indulges itself with "free run, free Sundays and free love" is not more long-lived than regulated place in the world." But we read with surprise that "after the nine of clock bell gings, the natives must retire and no sound is heard; no carriages are passing and the city itself seems at though listening in expectancy of a sound." We fear we must put down some of these statements as "Canterbury tales."

"The Foot's Emann" is a recent book which impresses one as being as realistic as Uncle Tom's Cabin. The author, Col. Servosse, leaving his law practice and his wife and baby entered the Union army at the opening of the rebellion, and after the war he sold out his northern home, bought and term with his family, in the notion that northerners would find a pleasant welcome, and attentions to a substance of free labor and open discussion of public matters; but ulthough he was regarded as a gent to each of the public wants of the public wants of the resulting and worth, attended him in his last hours, and mourned over his loss.

The book is undoubtedly correct in its description of Southern ways and feelings after
